I—DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918, the Distinguished Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in positions of great responsibility is awarded to:

Major General Theodore F. Bogart, , United States Army. October 1956 to August 1964.

Major General Howard W. Doan, , Medical Corps, United States Army. February 1961 to August 1964.

Major General Thomas B. Evans, , United States Army. March 1957 to August 1964.

Brigadier General Joseph W. Stilwell, , United States Army. August 1962 to June 1964.

II—SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918, a Silver Star for gallantry in action is awarded, posthumously, to:

Captain Ralph G. Redmond, , Infantry (then First Lieutenant), United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while engaged in military operations in the Republic of Vietnam on 4 June 1964. While serving as an Assistant Advisor to a Vietnamese Battalion, Captain Redmond completely disregarded his own personal safety and exposed himself to hostile gun fire to advise his Vietnamese counterparts in military maneuvers. With fortitude, sound judgment, and professional skill, he moved from position to position along the front line, encouraging his Vietnamese comrades, and remained with the forward troops until hostile forces were dispersed. He continued his valiant efforts throughout the operation and, while assisting the Vietnamese Commander in the preparations for an offensive move under cover of darkness, he was mortally wounded by the detonation of an enemy mine. His courageous conduct, personal example, and dedication to duty served as an inspiration to the Vietnamese forces and significantly stabilized the defense actions of the Battalion he was advising. Captain Redmond's conspicuous gallantry and unselfish actions are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

III—SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918, a Silver Star for gallantry in action is awarded, posthumously, to:

Sergeant Harry A. Walling, RA , United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while engaged in military operations in Vietnam on 19 June 1964. As an advisor to a combat patrol of the armed forces of the Republic of Vietnam, Sergeant Walling was accompanying the patrol across open terrain when it was suddenly subjected to intense automatic weapons fire from an entrenched hostile battalion. Despite his dangerous position and constant exposure to the intense enemy fire, he kept the base camp fully apprised of the situation until his radio was destroyed. Then, with complete disregard for his own personal safety, he bravely moved from position to position, advising and encouraging the remaining elements of the friendly forces. Although contantly exposed to an overwhelming onslaught of heavy gun fire, he continued his valiant efforts until mortally wounded. Through his courageous leadership and unfaltering devotion to duty, the friendly units were afforded the opportunity to redeploy to a more tenable position. Sergeant Walling's conspicuous gallantry and unselfish actions are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

IV—SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918, the Silver Star for gallantry in action is awarded to:

Captain Desmond W. Flanigan, , Infantry (then First Lieutenant), United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action on 30 March 1964 while engaged in military operations in the Republic of Vietnam and serving as an Advisor to a Vietnamese Ranger Battalion. While Captain Flanigan was advising a Vietnamese Company which was providing left flank protection, this unit was suddenly attacked by a hostile battalion with a heavy weapons support company which massed its initial assault on the left flank. Throughout the ensuing three and one-half hour engagement, Captain Flanigan displayed fortitude and determination and, during a move to consolidate the friendly forces, he observed that two of the Ranger squads were left in a position forward of the front lines. Then, with complete disregard for his own personal safety and despite the concentrated heavy fire from the hostile forces, he ran across open terrain, succeeded in reaching the Vietnamese Commander, informed him of the untenable position of the two forward squads, and recommended the action needed to save them. Although the Commander quickly issued orders for the rear elements to move forward and engage the enemy to permit the two squads to withdraw, the orders were not heard because of the extreme battlefield noises. Again Captain Flanigan was undaunted by the constant heavy fire of the battle line as he bravely moved from soldier to soldier informing them of their Commander's orders. He then rallied one squad and personally made a path through a bamboo entanglement to lead this small unit in an assault operation which forced the enemy to withdraw and permitted this unit to reach the squads in the precarious position. After encouraging these elements to make an orderly withdrawal to the main battle position of the friendly troops, he organized a party to move forward of the main line to bring back the wounded and dead, and continued his valiant efforts by leading this party to the wounded men while still under intermittent hostile gun fire. Captain Flanigan's conspicuous gallantry and unselfish actions are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

Major Herbert L. Prevost, , Corps of Engineers, United States Army, distinguished himself by gallantry in action while engaged in military operations in Vietnam on 14 November 1963. As an Advisor to a Vietnamese Engineer Battalion (Combat), Major Prevost was traveling with Division elements in convoy under blackout conditions along a narrow dirt road in the interior of Vietnam when the lead vehicle came upon a recently burned bridge. Although the physical features of the terrain precluded by-passing the obstacle and placed the convoy in a precarious position, he quickly determined that rapid repair of the bridge was imperative and immediately directed repair operations with only the headlights of two vehicles for visibility. As soon as the sound of a gasoline saw chain was heard by the hostile forces, enemy mortar was fired into the area of the lights and noise. Major Prevost then completely disregarded his own personal safety, ignored the increasing mortar rounds, remained in the glare of the headlights, directed the operations, and personally assisted in the repair work. Despite the hazardous situations, he continued his courageous efforts and exposed himself to the hostile mortar fire until the bridge was secured and the last heavy vehicle had crossed it. His fortitude, professional skill, and devotion to duty inspired the Vietnamese forces to accomplish their mission, averted a mass attack on the convoy, and saved many lives as well as military equipment. Major Prevost's conspicuous gallantry is in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflects great credit upon himself and the military service.

V—LEGION OF MERIT. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942, and Executive Order 10600, 15 March 1955, the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded posthumously to:

Colonel George B. Sloan, , Infantry, United States Army. August 1959 to June 1964.

VII_LEGION OF MERIT. 1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942, and Executive Order 10600, 15 March 1955, the Legion of Merit (Degree of Commander) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded to:

Marshal Joao de Segadas Vianna, Brazilian Army. July 1942 to November 1963.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942, and Executive Order 10600, 15 March 1955, the Legion of Merit (Degree of Commander) (Second Award) for the exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded to:

General Keizo Hayashi, Japan Ground Self Defense Force. December 1958 to August 1964.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942, and Executive Order 10600, 15 March 1955, the Legion of Merit (Degree of Officer) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded to:

General Gonzalo Coba Cabezas, Ecuadorean Army. May 1961 to July 1962.

Major General Julio Doig Sanchez, Peruvian Army. January 1962 to February 1963.

VIII_SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to:

Private Albert M. Coleman, Jr., , United States Army, as a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 6th Battalion, 21st Artillery, 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized), Fort Carson, Colorado, distinguished himself by heroism on 3 January 1964, at Atlantic City, New Jersey. When Private Coleman witnessed a serious automobile collision, in which one of the vehicles sheared off a gasoline pump in a filling station, then plunged through a window of an auto showroom and burst into flames, he ran to the scene to render assistance. With complete disregard for his own personal safety and despite the danger of an impending gasoline explosion, he unhesitatingly approached the flaming vehicles and pulled the injured driver from the burning car. He then rushed into an auto shop, grabbed a fire extinguisher, played it on the fire until empty, and then continued his courageous efforts by smothering the remaining flames with his jacket. His prompt actions, perseverance, and fortitude were highly instrumental in saving the life of the injured driver and in preventing further damage to personal property. Private Coleman's heroic conduct in this emergency reflects great credit upon himself and the military service. (This award supersedes award of the Army Commendation Medal for heroism, on 3 January 1964 as announced in General Orders Number 15, Headquarters, 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) and Fort Carson, Colorado, dated 30 January 1964.)

Master Sergeant Otis Spillman, , United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism while serving with the United States Army Advisory Mission with the Imperial Iranian Gendarmerie on 25 March 1964 in Poohan, Iran. While a passenger in the second helicopter of a fleet which carried an Iranian General and members of an inspection party, Sergeant Spillman observed that the pilot of the lead helicopter had dismounted from the helicopter without disengaging the main rotor while he assisted the General in debarking the aircraft. Sergeant Spillman then saw the helicopter become airborne; the pilot struck down by the whirling blades; the helicopter hovering in the air completely out of control; and the General thrown to ground in a prone position with the machine hovering above him. Realizing the danger to the General, to the other passengers in the uncontrolled helicopter, and to the crowd of villagers that had gathered, Sergeant Spillman unhesitatingly leaped from the helicopter in which he was riding and, with complete disregard for his own personal safety, ran to regain control of the hovering helicopter. Despite the extreme hazard involved, he ducked under the whirling blades, the tips of which were passing only a few feet from the ground, gained the controls, and succeeded in safely landing the helicopter although he was not a pilot. His prompt, courageous, and voluntary actions averted the loss of life and property, earned for him the lasting gratitude of all concerned, and materially enhanced the prestige of the United States military forces with the host country. Sergeant Spillman's heroic conduct and deep concern for his fellow man are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect distinct credit upon himself and the military service.

Staff Sergeant Samuel L. Walton, , United States Army, as a member of Company C, 2d Battalion, 21st Infantry, 24th Infantry Division, distinguished himself by heroism on 18 March 1964, near Munich, Germany. During a river crossing exercise, Sergeant Walton, along with a driver, was on board an M-113 Armored Personnel Carrier when it was caught in a whirlpool and began to sink in the Danau River. Although water poured over the motor and into the driver's compartment, Sergeant Walton remained calm and, while instructing the driver on how to bring the vehicle back to its original position, the swift current forced the carrier into a vertical position, plunging it and the men to the bottom of the river. Despite the dangerous situation and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, Sergeant Walton then remained under water until he freed the driver who was trapped in the vehicle. Sergeant Walton's heroic conduct in this emergency is in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflects great credit upon himself and the military service. (This award supersedes award of the Army Commendation Medal for heroism on 18 March 1964 as announced in General Orders Number 42, Headquarters 24th Infantry Division, dated 15 April 1964.

IX—BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 11046, 24 August 1962, a Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against hostile forces is awarded posthumously to:

Major Hong Chung Eui, , Republic of Korea Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while engaged in military operations against an opposing armed force on 13 November 1963, in Korea, and serving as a Member of the United Nations Command Component of Joint Observer Team Number 4. Captain Hong displayed fortitude, courage, and military discipline when the unarmed and properly identified Team was fired upon without warning by hostile forces as it was conducting an inspection of the Military Demarcation Line markers and safe lanes in accordance with the Armistice and subsequent agreements. To escape the onslaught of heavy machine gun and rifle fire, the Team members sought cover in icy waters near the north bank of the North Han River where they were pinned down for four and one-half hours. Although seriously wounded, Captain Hong demonstrated complete disregard for his own personal safety by his brave efforts to indicate to the hostile forces that they were firing on an agency of the Military Armistice Commission. Despite the grueling ordeal, he remained in the cold water and continued to render assistance for escape operations until he succumbed 4 hours after being mortally wounded. Captain Hong's unselfish actions, heroic conduct, and devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the military service of his country.

X--BRONZE STAR MEDAL. 1. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 11046, 24 August 1962, a Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against hostile forces is awarded to:

Specialist Five Harold Aldrich, , United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while engaged in military operations against an opposing armed force on 13 November 1963, in Korea, and while serving with the Armistice Affairs Division, United Nations Command/United States Forces Korea, as a Member of the United Nations Command component of Joint Observer Team Number 4. Specialist Aldrich displayed fortitude, courage, and military discipline when the unarmed and properly identified Team was fired upon without warning by hostile forces as it was conducting an inspection of the Military Demarcation Line markers and safe lanes in accordance with the Armistice and subsequent agreements. To escape the onslaught of heavy machine gun and rifle fire, the Team members sought cover in icy waters near the north bank of the North Han River where they were pinned down for four and one-half hours. Although he was wounded, Specialist Aldrich demonstrated perseverance and outstanding ability to cope with the unexpected. Through his personal example and encouragement to the Team, he was highly instrumental in maintaining its morale, discipline, and determination, and in its success in reaching a place of safety. Specialist Aldrich's professional competence, heroic conduct, and devotion to duty in this hazardous situation reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army.

2. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 11046, 24 August 1962, a Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device (Second Oak Leaf Cluster) for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against hostile forces is awarded to:

Lieutenant Colonel Alphus R. Clark, , Infantry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while engaged in military operations against an opposing armed force on 13 November 1963, in Korea, and serving as the Senior Member of the United Nations Command component of Joint Observer Team Number 4. Colonel Clark demonstrated fortitude, courage, and professional skill when the unarmed and properly identified Team was fired upon without warning by hostile forces as it was conducting an inspection of the Military Demarcation Line markers and safe lanes in accordance with the Armistice and subsequent agreements. To escape the onslaught of heavy machine gun and rifle fire, the Team members sought cover in the icy waters near the north bank of the North Han River where they were pinned down for four and one-half hours. Throughout the grueling ordeal, Colonel Clark rendered encouragement to the Team members and displayed decisive leadership and sound judgment which resulted in their safe escape after the prolonged period in icy waters under heavy hostile gun fire. When it appeared that the incident could develop into a fire fight between the guard posts on each side of the river, he was highly instrumental in preventing a major conflict by urging the Republic of Korea forces on the south bank to withhold counter fire. Colonel Clark's heroic conduct and outstanding performance of duty in this hazardous situation reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army.

XI. BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 11046, 24 August 1962, a Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against hostile forces is awarded to:

Sergeant Cho Jong Bu, , Republic of Korea Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while engaged in military operations against an opposing armed force on 13 November 1963, in Korea, and serving as a Member of the United Nations Command Component of Joint Observer Team Number 4. Sergeant Cho displayed fortitude, courage, and military discipline when the unarmed and properly identified Team was fired upon without warning by hostile forces as it was conducting an inspection of the Military Demarcation Line markers and safe lanes in accordance with the Armistice and subsequent agreements. To escape the onslaught of heavy machine gun and rifle fire, the Team members sought cover in icy waters near the north bank of the North Han River where they were pinned down for four and one-half hours. Upon approval of his superiors and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, Sergeant Cho relinquished his covered position, stood up, and bravely advanced in the direction of the heavy gun fire in an attempt to indicate to the hostile forces that they were firing on an agency of the Military Armistice Commission. Although these efforts were futile, he continued to demonstrate his determination and, at dusk, recovered a boat which the Team had been using and assisted his Team members in reaching a place of safety. Sergeant Cho's heroic conduct and outstanding performance of duty in this hazardous situation reflect great credit upon himself and the military service of his country.

Captain Choi Byon Jin, , Republic of Korea Army, distinguished himself by heroic achievement while engaged in military operations against an opposing armed force on 13 November 1963, in Korea, and serving as a Member of the United Nations Command Component of Joint Observer Team Number 4. Captain Choi displayed fortitude, courage, and military discipline when the unarmed and properly identified Team was fired upon without warning by hostile forces as it was conducting an inspection of the Military Demarcation Line markers and safe lanes in accordance with the Armistice and subsequent agreements. To escape the onslaught of heavy machine gun and rifle fire, the Team members sought cover in icy waters near the north bank of the North Han River where they were pinned down for four and one-half hours. Throughout this grueling ordeal, Captain Choi inspired the Team with his brave efforts to indicate to the hostile forces that they were firing on an agency of the Military Armistice Commission. Although these efforts were futile, he continued to demonstrate decisive leadership and determination by organizing and directing the recovery of the Team members and, at dusk, assisted them in reaching a place of safety. Captain Choi's professional competence, heroic actions, and outstanding performance of duty in this hazardous situation reflect great credit upon himself and the military service in his country.
