Noticing that automatic enemy weapons fire had pinned down two members of his squad, and that one of the men was seriously wounded, Captain Foley advanced to the position of the trapped men and silenced the enemy weapons with a hand grenade. This unselfish and courageous action made it possible to evacuate the wounded man. IV..SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1928, a Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to:

Sergeant John B. Sargent, Artillery, United States Army, a member of Battery A, 3d Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 57th Artillery, distinguished himself by heroism in the City of Stanton, California, on 20 September 1960. A civilian tree serviceman working some 25 feet above the ground came in contact with a high voltage power line and was floundering in a semi-conscious state in a hydraulic bucket directly under the hot wire. The bucket controls had jammed and were inoperable from the ground, leaving the man in constant danger of touching the hot line again and being electrocuted. Immediately noticing this hazardous situation, and fully aware of the danger involved, Sergeant Sargent voluntarily engaged in an attempt to rescue the victim. Realizing that the many quickly gathering people might complicate the rescue and result in additional casualties, Sergeant Sargent restrained the crowd and, without hesitation or concern for his own personal safety, climbed the tree to the stricken man. Working under circumstances wherein the slightest miscalculation could have brought certain and sudden death, he remained in the vicinity of the highly charged wire and assisted in extricating the man from under the wires. After the man was safely lowered to the ground, Sergeant Sargent promptly administered artificial respiration and first aid to treat the victim for shock. His unselfish courage and outstanding heroism in this sudden emergency are in the most cherished traditions of the United States Army, reflect distinct credit upon himself and the military service.

VI..BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of Executive Order 9419, 4 February 1944, a Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States is awarded to:

Captain Paul A. Stough, (then First Lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism in ground combat against an armed enemy in the vicinity of Hyongpung, Korea, on 31 August 1950. Captain Stough was Executive Officer of Company "C", 38th Infantry, 2d Infantry Division, when the company sustained an extended artillery and mortar barrage and was again subjected to a fierce night attack by numerically superior enemy forces. Upon finding that communication was lost with the company commander, and that the company perimeter was breached, Captain Stough, on his own volition, quickly organized the company command group as a fighting force and led them in an attack against the enemy in the most critical area. His courageous actions were instrumental in restoring penetrated positions and in repelling enemy attempts to cross the Naktong River. His bold leadership contributed materially to the defense of the company position, and resulted in the infliction of numerous casualties upon the enemy. The outstanding heroism displayed by Captain Stough is in the most cherished tradition of the United States Army, and reflects distinct credit upon himself and the military service.
