By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 25 July 1963, the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action is awarded posthumously to:

Specialist Four Richard L. Bosworth, US51876273, United States Army, who distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action on 16 February 1968 while serving with Company A, 2d Battalion (Mechanized), 25th Infantry, 25th Infantry Division in the Republic of Vietnam. On this date, elements of Company A were conducting a reconnaissance-in-force operation in the vicinity of Tay Ninh. As the lead platoon moved into the outskirts of the city and approached a brick wall, it came under attack by antitank rockets, rifle grenades, automatic weapons and small arms fire from an estimated battalion of Viet Cong concealed in well-fortified bunkers. As Specialist Bosworth was positioning his armored personnel carrier for an assault on the enemy positions, the vehicle was struck and disabled by an antitank rocket and he was severely wounded. Completely disregarding his own painful wounds, Specialist Bosworth assisted in the evacuation of the other casualties. Moving through a heavy volume of enemy fire, he climbed aboard another armored vehicle and was positioning it for an attack on the Viet Cong when a grenade exploded on top of the vehicle, wounding him a second time and knocking him from the vehicle. Undaunted by the pain of his wounds and ignoring the fierce fighting raging around him, he obtained a rifle and charged the enemy bunkers alone. After wiping out an enemy rocket position, he charged toward another enemy bunker. While completely exposed to the enemy bullets, he was mortally wounded by a burst of fire from an enemy machine gun. His personal bravery and determination were responsible for saving the lives of many of his comrades. Specialist Bosworth’s conspicuous gallantry was in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army.

By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 25 July 1963, the Dis-Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action is awarded posthumously to:

Sergeant First Class Manuel T. Lopez, RA3707253, United States Army, who distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in action while leading a platoon against hostile forces near Moc Hoa, Republic of Vietnam, on 27 June 1968. Sergeant Lopez was a platoon leader of an Irregular Mobile Strike Force Company conducting a heliborne insertion into an enemy-occupied landing zone. Upon learning of the critical wounds of a fellow soldier, Sergeant Lopez located and retrieved him by crawling under intense and accurate enemy fire from a nearby woodline. As the unit sustained additional casualties, Sergeant Lopez secured a radio and again crawled forward against intense machinegun fire, mortars and rockets to carry more wounded back to the medical evacuation point. Moving forward a third time, he was knocked unconscious by the concussion of a B-40 rocket. Upon recovering, he refused medical evacuation for himself and moved toward the woodline from where he carried another American and three irregulars to another helicopter under heavy fire. While assisting yet other irregular soldiers pinned down by enemy fire, Sergeant Lopez fell mortally wounded. During the several hours that he moved about the battlefield assisting others, his bravery, courage and determination saved fourteen of his comrades. His continued feats of heroism in the face of certain death inspired his men to whom retreat or hesitation was unnecessary in the knowledge that he was among them. Sergeant Lopez's extraordinary heroism at the cost of his own life, above and beyond the call of duty, are in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

3. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 20 July 1942, and Executive Order 10600, 15 March 1953, the Legion of Merit (Degree of Legionnaire) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service is awarded to:

Colonel Kim Young Soo, 108514, Republic of Korea Air Force. February 1965 to March 1968.

VII...SOLDIER’S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926, a Soldier’s Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to the following:

Sergeant First Class Jack D. Azbill, RA15257032, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroic actions in helping save the life of a fellow soldier who was drowning at Picatinny Arsenal on 31 July 1968. At approximately 1930 hours, 31 July 1968, Sergeant Azbill, despite the fact that he was virtually a nonswimmer, voluntarily entered the water at Miller’s Pond to give assistance to a fellow soldier who, having fallen from a boat, was drowning. Forced to abandon an empty metal drum which he was using as a swimming aid when the container began to sink, Sergeant Azbill laboriously made his way back to shore. Taking one end of a hose, and again at great personal risk, he reentered the water and managed to hand-paddle his way to the drowning man and the latter’s wife who had come to her husband’s aid and was holding him afloat. Handing her a section of the hose, he instructed a youth on shore to pull the three of them to safety. Once the victim was brought to land, Sergeant Azbill, even though in a state of near shock and exhaustion, assisted in rendering artificial respiration until the arrival of medical assistance. Sergeant Azbill’s actions, which involved great courage and complete disregard for his personal safety, were beyond the call of duty in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.

Specialist Five Ira J. Brown, RA17269119, Signal Corps, distinguished himself by an act of heroism while saving the life of a fire victim by rescuing him from a burning room with complete disregard for his own personal safety.
in Junction City, Kansas. At approximately 1630 hours on 3 May 1968 Specialist Brown along with the building manager noticed smoke billowing from under an apartment door. In attempting to enter the apartment the manager was severely cut by glass from the door transom. Specialist Brown then found it necessary to break in the door. He attempted to enter the smoke-filled apartment but was driven back by the dense smoke and intense heat. Ignoring the smoke and intense heat, Specialist Brown then entered the apartment by crawling on the floor until he reached a burning bed on which lay an unconscious and severely burned man. He grasped the injured man by his legs and dragged him from the burning bed, across the floor and to safety in the hall. Specialist Brown then administered first aid and what comfort he could to the injured man while awaiting the arrival of medical help. Specialist Brown's prompt and heroic actions were instrumental in saving the victim's life and reflect the utmost credit upon himself and the United States Army.

Specialist Five Ronald V. Middleton, US53700337, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism on 4 September 1968 at the USARSO Demolition Area, Canal Zone. Immediately after a stack of 4.2 inch high explosive mortar rounds accidentally caught fire, Specialist Middleton, seeing that a comrade was enveloped in the fire and unable to get away from the burning munitions, rushed to his aid with complete disregard for his own safety, with full knowledge that the burning and overheated munitions might detonate at any moment. Specialist Middleton helped his injured comrade extinguish his burning clothing and with another comrade, removed the injured man from the danger area. Specialist Middleton stayed with his injured comrade, applying first aid and treating for shock until the arrival of the ambulance. Specialist Middleton's heroic act and courageous conduct in this very hazardous situation is in the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflects great credit upon himself and the military service.

Sergeant Randy S. Morton, US56701905, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism on the morning of 3 August 1968 while on duty as a Military Policeman on routine patrol at Fort Ritchie, Maryland. During the course of his patrol, Sergeant Morton and his assistant observed two members of the Women's Army Corps on the beach. The beach area was unsecured at the time. When the patrol halted, the girls dashed into the water, disregarding Sergeant Morton's order to halt. After apprehending one girl, Sergeant Morton observed the other girl in deep water and unable to swim. At great risk to his own life, Sergeant Morton went to the rescue of the girl. In addition to her inability to swim, she was frightened and continued to fight all efforts of her rescuer. Sergeant Morton's efforts seemed futile and he was pulled under water many times. However, finally overcoming all obstacles he brought the girl to the shallow water on the other side of the lake where additional assistance was available to drag the girl from the water. His complete disregard for himself when faced with personal danger is evidence of his sincere dedication to his fellow soldiers and his country. His bravery and courage are a truly outstanding tribute to the Military Police Corps. His heroic efforts are in keeping with the greatest tradition of the military service and reflect a high degree of honor upon himself, his unit and the United States Army.

Second Lieutenant Michael L. Nicholson, 02338812, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism voluntarily performed in the face of extreme personal danger on 13 June 1968 in Alexandria, Virginia.
While returning to Fort Belvoir on United States Highway 1, Lieutenant Nicholson witnessed a four-car collision in which one automobile caught fire and began to burn furiously. Seeing that the occupant was in mortal danger, and heedless of his own safety, he entered the burning car and extricated the trapped driver. While he applied first aid to the severely injured occupant, the automobile exploded. Lieutenant Nicholson's selfless and heroic actions saved the life of a severely injured accident victim and reflect the utmost credit upon himself, the Corps of Engineers and the United States Army.

Second Lieutenant Frederick S. Van Alstyne, O5247551, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism voluntarily performed in the face of extreme personal danger on 13 June 1968 in Alexandria, Virginia. While returning to Fort Belvoir on United States Highway 1, Lieutenant Van Alstyne witnessed a four-car collision in which one automobile caught fire and began to burn furiously. Seeing that the occupant was in mortal danger, and heedless of his own safety, he entered the burning car and extricated the trapped driver. While he applied first aid to the severely injured occupant, the automobile exploded. Lieutenant Van Alstyne's selfless and heroic actions saved the life of a severely injured accident victim and reflect the utmost credit upon himself, the Corps of Engineers and the United States Army.

Staff Sergeant Gene E. Wagner, RA17521909, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism while serving as Army Recruiter, Albuquerque, New Mexico, Recruiting Station, United States Army Recruiting Main Station, Amarillo, Texas, on the afternoon of 18 July 1968. En route from Moriarty, New Mexico, to Albuquerque, New Mexico, on a recruiting mission activity, Sergeant Wagner witnessed a collision between two trucks. He immediately parked his vehicle and rushed to the burning cab of the first truck where he tried to open both the left and right doors for the purpose of rescuing the occupant who was pinned inside, injured, and unable to help himself. Upon finding the doors jammed he exhibited decisive action, dauntless courage, unusual heroism, and a disregard for his own safety by jumping on the side of the truck, kicking out a window, and pulling the driver to safety as the flames engulfed the truck cab. Manifesting the precepts of conduct most cherished by mankind, Sergeant Wagner endangered his life to save the life of another. Sergeant Wagner's conspicuous bravery was beyond the call of duty, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army, and reflects great credit upon himself and the military service.

X.—ARMY COMMENDATION MEDAL. By direction of the Secretary of the Army, under the provisions of paragraph 33, AR 672-5-1, the Army Commendation Medal (with "V" device for heroism) is awarded to:

Master Sergeant Alfred Vaillancourt, RA11209038, United States Army, distinguished himself by heroism from December 1965 to January 1966, as the Senior Special Forces Advisor to a Civilian Irregular Defense Group company-sized operation during operation Le Loi 15, consisting of one CIDG and one Army Republic of Vietnam company, with a dual mission of providing security for local rice harvesters and conducting clear-and-sweep operations in the vicinity of Khac Can and Huy Khiem villages located in Binh Tuy Province, Republic of Vietnam. On the night of 30 December 1965, while establishing a forward operational base in the Khac Can Village, the Viet Cong launched a heavy mortar attack followed by intense small arms fire. Sergeant Vaillancourt organized his men and led them outside the defense perimeter and called for a forward air controller. Being informed that his unit was surrounded by a Viet Cong battalion-sized force, Sergeant Vaillancourt immediately closed in his perimeter and directed mortar fire and an accurate airstrike. His timely action saved lives of many of his men and caused heavy casualties and loss of equipment to the Viet Cong. Sergeant Vaillancourt's display of courage and leadership during the long, 14-hour battle with a numerically superior enemy force, distinguished himself in the vanguard of the noncommissioned officer corps and have gained him the respect of his comrades and the Vietnamese alike. Sergeant Vaillancourt's conspicuous gallantry in action was in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, the Special Forces and the United States Army.
