f. The DLIFLC Commandant will provide an annual program review (APR) to TRADOC and the EA. This APR will be presented to the DOD SLA at the DLSC.

2-2. Command Language Program

Units and/or agencies with language-coded billets are required to establish a CLP and designate a CLPM. CLPMs serve as the commanders' and/or directors' principal advisors for foreign language issues. CLPMs work with the command and/or agency to develop and execute unit language training plans in support of operational objectives and contingency plans and with linguists to devise individual linguist training plans. CLPM duties may include the following:

a. Support pre-deployment training requirements by coordinating with their components and DLIFLC to obtain instructor support and training material.

b. Develop classroom requirements and funding requests based on training priorities.

c. Maintain a language training database.

d. Evaluate the effectiveness of language instruction and the overarching training program.

e. Advise the commander on linguist retention and incentives and facilitate accurate foreign language proficiency bonus payments to qualified linguists.

f. Maintain current knowledge and visibility on DOD and Service, agency, and/or component specific language issues through continued contact with the CLPM community and periodic refresher training at the CLP Manager Workshop.

Chapter 3 Resident Training

3-1. General

Resident training may consist of training accomplished at DLIFLC or at a location designated by DLIFLC.

3-2. Submission of training requirements

a. DOD components will submit training requirements via the SMDR process. The EA, in conjunction with TRADOC, will host a pre-SMDR and will be facilitated by the DLIFLC Commandant. DOD components will identify language training requirements for input into ATRRS three fiscal years (FYs) in advance. The DLIFLC will use the requirements submitted during the pre-SMDR to generate the base-line requirements for the annual SMDR co-chaired by DCS, G-1 and the DCS, G-3/5/7 (DAMO-TR).

b. The DLIFLC will review training seats quarterly. Upon completion, the formal TRAP results will be submitted to TRADOC to address any un-programmed changes during execution and budget years. The training seat review will include DOD components, who will make suggested adjustments to language training seats. Changes can be made within existing programmed resources by exchanging seats among components and/or quota sources. If requested training seats exceed already resourced programmed levels, they must be resourced by the DOD components and/or quota sources on a reimbursable basis.

c. DOD components are responsible for managing the use of their training seat allocations. After the initial review of the master schedule, all requests for rescheduling of allocated training seats will be submitted in writing through Scheduling Division, DLIFLC Deputy Chief of Staff Operations, and forwarded to TRADOC for approval. As necessary, the DLAP and/or DLSC may be used to address any disagreements between the EA and components.

d. The DLIFLC will collate and analyze the training seat requirements, compile master lists for each year's projections and prepare a schedule of classes to meet the budget year requirements of participating DOD components.

e. Courses with intermittent throughput such as certain mobile training teams (MTTs) and certain courses at language training detachments (LTDs) are managed outside of the SMDR process.

f. For further description of the SMDR process and ATRRS see AR 350-10.

3-3. Submission of training development requirements

a. DOD components will submit training requirements to Scheduling Division, Deputy Chief of Staff Operations, DLIFLC for review and provide informational copies of their requirements submission to other components.

b. The DLIFLC will prepare and submit training development requirements by FY through TRADOC to the EA no later than 1 August annually.

c. The EA will review all recommendations submitted by TRADOC and develop an approved prioritized list which will be submitted to the Training PEG for consideration and submission to the DLSC for appropriate action.

3–4. Submission of changes to existing courses

Any proposed changes to DLIFLC programs (for example, course length, language category, and graduation standards) must be vetted through the DLSC and approved by the DOD SLA. The DLCWG will be the venue for initial community discussion of the issue and its formulation for presentation to higher forums. Components, DLIFLC, TRADOC, EA, DLAP, and DLSC will review proposals before they are submitted to the DOD SLA. Only upon DOD SLA proposal approval can DLIFLC change the program in question. The DOD SLA may delegate approval authority for proposed program changes to lower levels.

3–5. Evaluation of resident training

- a. Resident training evaluation is a continuous process.
- b. Internal evaluation examines the quality of training provided in terms of student achievement of specified training objectives. Analysis is based on data derived from tests, questionnaires, studies, and audits.
- c. DLIFLC will participate in the TRADOC Quality Assurance (QA) Program and is inspected every three years to ensure QA compliance.

Chapter 4 Nonresident Training

4–1. General

Nonresident training consists of classroom training or distributed learning and associated material provided by DLIFLC or non-DLIFLC instructors at a location not designated for resident training.

- a. DLIFLC nonresident training is conducted via Language Training Detachments (LTDs), MTTs, distributed learning, or contracted instruction.
- b. Commanders of units with language training requirements, via their component, may request on-site training support from DLIFLC. The Commandant, DLIFLC will determine the best means to meet a unit's training requirements.
- c. Approved nonresident training will be reviewed by the component, TRADOC, and DLIFLC yearly at a minimum or as required to determine continued need and effectiveness. An information copy of the review will be provided to the DLSC through the EA.
- d. Request for changes to approved, DLIFLC-provided nonresident foreign language training must be submitted through the Component to DLIFLC. The DLIFLC will submit any requested changes along with its recommendations to TRADOC for approval and/or disapproval.
- e. TRADOC will advise DLIFLC of recommendations for approval and forward to the EA.
- f. TRADOC will forward any recommendations for disapproval to the EA for final decision. The EA will discuss any recommendations for disapproval with the components, and as necessary, the DLSC for adjudication and final decision.
- g. DLIFLC will advise the components when changes are approved or disapproved so that the components can adjust future training or consult the DLSC, as necessary.
- h. The EA will advise the DLSC when there are systemic changes to this process or the overall nonresident training program.

4–2. Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center Language Training Detachments

LTDs function as an extension of DLIFLC that aids in fulfilling the commandant's responsibility to assist DOD components meet their foreign language training requirements. An LTD consists of one or more language education specialists from DLIFLC who advise and support the Component in all matters relating to the conduct of nonresident language programs. Instruction may include language acquisition for Special Operation Forces and refresher, maintenance (sustainment), enhancement (including intermediate or advanced courses), and familiarization training. LTDs can be funded using TDLP funds, special programmatic adds (such as a Congressional mark or Resource Management Decision), or on a reimbursable basis by the Component.

- a. LTD requests. Before the DLIFLC commandant recommends approval of an LTD request to TRADOC and the EA, the requesting activity must demonstrate an established need and sufficient workload to justify the requirement. A sufficient workload is defined as a minimum of 800 platform hours per teacher per year.
- b. At a minimum, the requesting activity will address the following issues in the request:
 - (1) Language(s) required.

- (2) Number of students taught annually per language.
 - (3) Student training availability (for example, 4 weeks per year and 1 day per week).
 - (4) Type(s) of course(s) required (acquisition, refresher, sustainment, intermediate, or advanced) with stated course proficiency objectives.
 - (5) Student entry profiles, to include current language proficiency.
 - (6) Facilities available for students and teachers (size and location).
 - (7) Classroom, office, and support available (computers, smart boards, supplies, phones, fax, and broadband (high-speed) network connectivity).
 - (8) Reproduction facility availability to access, download, reproduce, and disseminate DLIFLC instructional material in the required format (hardcopy and CD-ROM).
 - (9) Component's recommendation.
 - (10) Phased implementation plan with dates and/or years required.
- c. The LTD process is as follows:
- (1) Based on the information provided, DLIFLC will determine the requirements for teachers, classrooms, and education specialists to meet the request.
 - (2) Service units requesting LTD support will submit requests through their components who will recommend approval/disapproval and forward them to DLIFLC. Requests will then be forwarded from DLIFLC through TRADOC to the EA for approval/disapproval.
 - (3) The EA will approve (including a funding determination) or disapprove the LTD request. The EA will notify TRADOC and DLIFLC of the disposition of all LTD requests. The EA will also notify the requesting component of LTD approval or disapproval.
 - (4) If cost reimbursement is appropriate, DLIFLC through TRADOC will provide the EA a cost estimate to support the LTD. Approved LTD requests will be included in the TDLP MDEP for programming. The requesting activity will be responsible for the operation of the LTD on a reimbursable basis until resourced through the TDLP MDEP.
 - (5) Appropriate documentation (for example, a memorandum of agreement) between DLIFLC and the requesting organization is required for all LTDs.
 - (6) All course offerings and individual student enrollments are tracked in ATRRS, regardless of Service, organization, or affiliation. Statistical data based upon language, programmed student fill, actual student fill, and academic performance is used to evaluate the viability and sustainability of the LTD Program.
 - (7) The Commandant, DLIFLC in coordination with TRADOC and the EA, will direct staff assistance visits or inspections of all LTD facilities.

4-3. Mobile training teams

The DLIFLC may support units' foreign language training requirements with MTTs for up to 179 days. Components request all MTTs through the DLIFLC Scheduling Division. The DLIFLC provides three types of MTTs:

a. Language Mobile Training Team. MTTs in support of units' CLPs are designed to support the remedial, sustainment, and enhancement training needs of language professionals. The DLIFLC will provide CLP MTTs either funded by TDLP funds or on a reimbursable basis by the Component. Upon receipt of a CLP MTT request, the DLIFLC Nonresident Training Division will provide the requesting unit with a statement of cost. The DLIFLC Resource Management Office must receive a Military Interdepartmental Purchase Request or a reimbursable fund-cite for the full cost of the MTT at least 2 weeks prior to the planned departure of DLIFLC instructors.

b. Familiarization Mobile Training Team. These teams are designed to support unit deployments and other missions requiring language familiarization. Familiarization MTTs are not intended to produce an Interagency Language Roundtable (ILR) level of language proficiency (as measured by the DLPT), and they can be customized to support units' training requirements.

c. Command Language Program Mobile Training Team. Provided adequate number of students are available, units may request a CLPM training course to certify unit CLPMs.

d. Mobile Training Team request. Any MTT request that cannot be categorized in paragraph 4-2a through 4-2c should be forwarded through command channels to the Component's SLA for clarification and communication of needs with the Commandant, DLIFLC.

4-4. Distributed learning

DLIFLC provides various types of distributed learning opportunities. Service units requesting distributed learning will submit requests through their components who will validate the requests and forward them to DLIFLC.

4–5. Other services and support

DLIFLC will---

- a. Provide pertinent information on DLIFLC resident courses to assist educational institutions with decisionmaking regarding the granting of academic credit.
- b. Upon request by the Director, Defense Security Cooperation Agency, provide foreign governments with foreign language instruction, materials, and advisory assistance on a reimbursable basis in accordance with the security assistance procedures in DODD 5105.65.

4–6. Nonresident training evaluation

- a. Components are required to conduct periodic evaluations of ongoing nonresident foreign language programs to ensure quality control. The major elements of such evaluations include but are not limited to the following:
 - (1) Achievement of course objectives.
 - (2) Availability of appropriate and/or adequate course materials.
 - (3) Use of qualified instructors.
 - (4) Use of appropriate test, measurement, and scoring devices.
 - (5) Maintenance of training records (to include DLPT scores and dates).
- b. Reports by the Components on nonresident foreign language program evaluations must be submitted directly to DLIFLC for review and for recommendations to correct deficiencies. DLIFLC will provide corrective recommendations within 30 days of receipt of such evaluations.
- c. Should the complexity, size, or criticality of a particular nonresident foreign language program indicate a need for a Joint evaluation of the program by the components and DLIFLC education specialists, components should request support directly from DLIFLC. The request should include the following:
 - (1) Name and location of nonresident training program.
 - (2) Proposed dates of evaluation.
 - (3) Suspected problems areas, if any.
 - (4) Specific areas of interest (to ensure the DLIFLC specialist(s) accompanying the components have the proper expertise in that area.)
 - (5) Languages being taught in the nonresident foreign language program.
 - (6) Fund cite data (if an MTT has not been projected for this purpose).
- d. Nonresident training evaluation should also incorporate student-provided teacher and program evaluations to improve instructional programs.

Chapter 5

Defense Foreign Language Testing

5–1. Objectives

DODI 5160.71 provides overall policy guidance for foreign language proficiency and aptitude testing. The objectives of the program are to establish quality control standards and criteria for the following:

- a. Screening foreign language training applicants and potential applicants for language aptitude.
- b. Identifying the foreign language training start-point for those students with prior foreign language knowledge.
- c. Determining a student's foreign language proficiency by skill level in listening, speaking, and reading.
- d. Verifying foreign language qualification of DOD personnel.
- e. Use in research and development supporting the Defense Foreign Language Program (DFLP).
- f. Evaluating the effectiveness of training programs and provision of information necessary for policy or managerial decisions relating to the DFLP.

5–2. Standards

- a. Screening. In accordance with DODI 5160.71, the Defense Language Aptitude Battery (DLAB) is the preferred test battery authorized for assessing a Service member's aptitude for acquiring a foreign language. The DLIFLC recommends minimum aptitude scores for entry into training through the EA to the components. DA Pam 11–8, OPNAVINST 5200.37, Air Force Instruction (AFI) 36–2605, and Marine Corps Order (MCO) 1200.17 contain information on administering the DLAB, scoring it, and on established entry level standards.
- b. Verification of proficiency. The DLPT and Oral Proficiency Interview are standardized, objective tests designed to measure an individual's general ability to comprehend a spoken and written foreign language, and to speak the language regardless of the source of that ability. The DLPT series of tests are available through the Defense Manpower Data Center

(DMDC) Web DLPT System, DA Pam 11–8, OPNAVINST 5200.37, AFI36–2605, MCO 1230.5, and the DLPT Administration Manuals contain information on the administration and scoring of DLPTs and on language training standards.

5–3. Defense Language Testing Working Group

The DLTWG will be the venue for initial community discussion of issues and for recommendations to higher forums (see para 2–1). Technical issues or development matters related to foreign language testing (for example, prioritization for development, delivery issues) are introduced via the DLTWG. Policy recommendations must be referred to the DLAP for disposition.

The Army Program Element provides the common Department of the Army structure for programming and budgeting resources to individual or logical groups or organizational entities, major combat forces, or support programs. Army program elements are designed and quantified in such a way as to be both comprehensive and mutually exclusive, and are continually scrutinized to maintain proper visibility of Army programs. For most appropriations and manpower the Army program element code consists of six numeric or alphanumeric characters, which relate to the Army Management Structure Code and, to a lesser extent, the OSD Program Element.

Language training detachment

An organizational activity of DLIFLC consisting of one or more language training specialists dispatched to an OCONUS or continental United States location on permanent change of station (without permanent change of assignment orders) to provide foreign language training Services.

Management Decision Package

Early in the PPBES process, the resource management architecture distributes program and budget resources to MDEPs by appropriation and program element. MDEPs serve as a resource management tool used internally by the Army. Taken collectively, MDEPs account for all Army resources. They describe the capability of the Total Army—Active, Guard, and Reserve. Individually, an MDEP describes a particular organization, program, or function. It also records the resources associated with the intended output.

Includes training requested from and approved by the DLIFLC (ATFL-OPP) to satisfy specified mission-related or job-related requirements for language skills.

Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution System

The PPBES is the Army's primary resource management system. A major decision-making process, the PPBES interfaces with the OSD and joint planning and links directly to OSD programming and budgeting. It develops and maintains the Army portion of the defense program and budget. It supports Army planning, and it supports program development and budget preparation at all levels of command. It supports execution of the approved program and budget by both headquarters and field organizations. During execution, it provides feedback to the planning, programming, and budgeting processes.

Program Executive Group

PEGs address functional requirements to sustain the force and to maintain readiness and the support base.

Program memorandum

This memorandum establishes structure quota management rules for determining the DLIFLC Annual Language Training Program. Structure load levels are set for each Service based on historical load data (last three years of execution); optimal, language-specific instructor-student ratios; and current expressed Service requirements.

Structure Manning Decision Review

The SMDR is a meeting designed to validate Army training requirements and subsequently reconcile those requirements to an affordable, acceptable, and executable training program. Annually, the SMDR is conducted during September and/or October.
