b. Master’s degree. Following acceptance into the sponsor’s program, fellows will pursue a master’s degree in legislative affairs through an intensive and rigorous course at a National Capital Region area university. Fellows will continue taking classes in the evening while serving in a congressional office. (3) General duties while serving in a Member’s office include:

(a) Providing general military and veterans’ experience to the office.
(b) Researching and analyzing legislative proposals and advising the staff on courses of action.

(5) During the fellowship, fellows will attend periodic seminars designed to facilitate feedback, enhance the fellows' knowledge of Congress, and to receive updates on Army and DOD priorities.

(6) OCLL House Liaison Division and Senate Liaison Division chiefs will serve as the fellows’ military mentor. In this capacity they will maintain contact with and provide general information to fellows while they are serving on Capitol Hill. However, the fellow is not expected to and should not appear to provide the Army with private or privileged information from the Member’s office.

(7) Military fellows will maintain the Army values, appearance, and fitness standards. All fellows will represent the Army in a positive light.

(10) Specific laws, DOD, and Service regulations govern service member participation in partisan political activity. There are also specific congressional restrictions on a member’s legislative office and staff use in campaign work. Fellows must be aware of and comply with these laws, rules, and guidelines.

(11) Military and civilian fellows will receive an annual evaluation report for the 12 rated months in the Member’s office. The Member of Congress serves as rater and senior rater for officers, NCOs, and civilians.

d. Phase III: Utilization.

(1) Military fellows will make a permanent change of station move to start a 2-year utilization tour in January of the year following completion of 12 months of service in a congressional office.

(2) For active duty officers and NCOs, the priority for utilization tour assignments will be in OCLL, the ASA (FM&C), Budget Liaison, the Army staff, the OSD, or the Joint Staff.

(3) Personnel may also be assigned to legislative liaison duties for Army DRUs, combatant commands, DOD agencies, or other operational headquarters as required.

(4) The Office of the Chief, Army Reserve (OCAR) and DARNG will assign USAR and ARNG officers to utilization tours. The CLL will assign those reserve component fellows not returning to OCAR or ARNG after consultation with OCAR and ARNG.
